

Application and Express Mail Fees

Application Fee

The non-refundable, non-transferrable $50 application fee must be paid before an application can be processed. An application can be deferred to a future quarter one time without payment of another application fee. If the application is deferred again, the application fee must be paid with each deferral request.

The application can be paid by:

- Debit/Credit card (card information can only be submitted online, and cannot be accepted by phone, fax, or e-mail)
  - Students who apply online will be prompted to pay their $50 application fee directly via the admission application portal.
  - Students who apply using the PDF application will receive payment instructions after they submit all the other required documents to the International Admissions Office.
- Personal check, drawn on a U.S. bank account
- International bank draft

Express Mail Fee

NOTE: Due to Covid-19, acceptance materials are currently being sent via email. Therefore, students shouldn't pay the express mail fee.

Seattle Colleges sends its acceptance materials by FedEx Air Mail, which can take 2-5 weeks to arrive, depending on the destination. Applicants who would like their materials sent by Express Mail may make this request by paying the express mail fee. This fee is charged per student, and is required each time materials are to be sent by Express Mail.

For its approved partner advising agencies and educational institutions, Seattle Colleges provides one complimentary international express mailing per application.

To pay the express mail fee for your acceptance materials, visit our shipment provider E-Ship Global.
